

About a North Star BTS

I wrote about a north star for my north star back in may when i was listening to Blonde by Frank Ocean. Ivy started playing and the first line itself made me think about the time when i had gone to a show of an artist, my love loved more than i did haha & i asked him, the musician for a picture & told him about how there's my friend who isn't in this city would he write a note for them? I didn't even start saying what i wanted the note to be about, he wrote down a warm note & at then signed it off. All on his own and that was one of the coolest thing i had ever seen, i couldn't wait to show my love this note, however i wasn't able to do that anytime soon. For weeks i was excited that i got a note for them and i just wanted to hear them. Slowly i was also getting busy & living my life so the excitement was so high. When i told them, i think when she said i love you shreyash, it was really from their heart. It was a moment of happiness for them but you have no idea what i just had heard them say. Jaw almost hurting from how hard i was smiling but also, they got to know that it exists !! so my excitement reignited LOL.

i love you my bubbly soda <3